Crédito Agrícola ranked “Best Performing Bank” in Portugal

Crédito Agrícola has been ranked by the prestigious magazine The Banker, a part of the Financial Times Group, as the “Best performing bank in Portugal”, based on indicators such as growth, asset quality, liquidity and soundness. This award represents a significant milestone for Crédito Agrícola, highlighting its performance and capacity for sustainable growth.

Licínio Pina, Chairman of the Executive Board of Directors of Crédito Agrícola, stated “awards like this bear witness to the work and dedication of all our teams. We are honored by this recognition from an entity such as The Banker magazine, which highlights our position as a solid Bank in the Portuguese banking sector and reflects our commitment to provide value and trust to our customers”.

The Banker magazine is known for its analysis of the global banking sector, constituting a key resource for the international financial sector. The magazine’s “Top 1000 World Banks” ranking is considered a benchmark for the analysis of banks on a global, national and regional level.

Crédito Agrícola, the only cooperative Portuguese bank, has the mission of contributing to the social and economic progress of local communities, through its proximity banking practices, committed to local promotion and development.

This award is the exclusive responsibility of the presenting entity.
